New Construction Record For Half Year

Building Total Of $3,947,285 In Greater Victoria

City's Aggregate Given as $3,316,105 by Inspector James Barf; Oak Bay Runs to $367,570, With Saanich Running Close With Figure of $226,435; Unprecedented Total for Year is Predicted.

With Greater Victoria's building totals hovering about the $4,000,000 mark for the half yearly period ending June 27 a new construction record has been achieved.

The city and adjoining municipalities add on the crest of a construction wave that is expected to give an unprecedented total for the year.

The peak building load, of course, has been considerably boosted with the erection of the new wing of the Empress Hotel, while the B.C. Electric power distributing station and the B.C. Telephone Company's automatic phone building have also contributed to the total.

The aggregate building figures for Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt, as compiled to-day by the record offices of the various municipalities, reach the sum of $3,947,285.

This total is for the six months ending to-day.

CITY TOTAL

James Barf, city building inspector, announced this morning that the building total for the city of Victoria stands at 359 permits valued at $3,16,105, covering the period from January 1 to June 26.

Detailed monthly information was given as follows:

January, thirty-eight permits valued at $230,975. February, fifty-four permits valued at $275,167. March, sixty-eight permits valued at $35,881. April, ninety-one permits valued at $2,333,732. May, fifty-six permits valued at $250,000. June, to date, fifty-two permits valued at $82,555. Grand total, $3,316,105.

It will be seen that the largest month was April when the permit for the Empress Hotel addition was taken out.

The municipality of Oak Bay, covering the five-month period ending May 31, announced a building total of $267,570. The month of May recorded a figure of $95,000, and with June bid at $60,000, slightly less than the previous month, a total for the six-month period of $367,570 is estimated.

SAANICH REPORTS

The municipality of Saanich gives the six-month figure at $226,435, as compared with $177,976 for the same period last year.

Construction in Saanich so far this month amounts to $22,150.

Building in the municipality of Esquimalt for the half yearly period, exclusive of construction work in progress at the naval station, amounted to $37,175.

OKANAGAN OUTLOOK

Vernon, B.C., June 27.—The drought damage to apples can not be correctly estimated, but it is believed to be the result of the district horticulturist. In some Okanagan valley orchards it is expected to be heavy. Recent rains and cool weather have helped all varieties, many of which are commencing to drop. Reduced apple yields are expected, although warm weather would improve the situation.

MOTHERWELL TO VISIT VICTORIA DURING HIS TOUR

Ottawa, June 27.—Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, will leave here for a tour of western Canada, during which he will talk with farmers and fruitgrowers and speak in his constituency of Melville, Sask.

The Windermere British Columbia experimental farm will be visited about Aug. 1, and en route through the Okanagan the Minister will see pre-cooling plants and also meet fruit men to discuss their problems, hoping to solve some of them relating to quality and marketing.

The Vancouver Exhibition will be opened by Mr. Motherwell August 12 and then a few days will be spent at Nanaimo, Comox, Alberni and Victoria.

ROBERTS, RETIRING HEAD OF CANADIAN AUTHORS, URGES WIDENING LITERARY UNITY

Roberts of Toronto, in the course of his annual report, formally announced his retirement from the presidency of the Canadian Authors' Association to-day. He has been president for the last two years.

CITY SCHOOLS CLOSE DOORS FOR HOLIDAY

Will Release 6,000 Students For Annual Vacation Tomorrow Morning

Saanich Students Will Be Excluded From High School After Vacation

Two months of play and pleasure lie in front of 6,000 school pupils of Victoria who will to-morrow cast aside books, pens and pencils and school cases for the long summer vacation.

The nineteen city schools will close their doors soon after the noonday clock has chimed and they will not be reopened until the beginning of September, when the children, fresh from holidays, will return to their desks.

Public school students numbering over 4,500, to-day put the finishing touches to examination papers upon which rest their fortunes for the next term. To-morrow morning they will gather at school, but not for work, and will be dismissed during the morning session.

At the High School, where matriculation students have been in the throes of their annual tests and pupils who did not receive recommendation in other grades have been perusing examination papers, the finish of the term's work also comes to-morrow.

PASS LISTS

Pass lists in the lower grades of the public schools will practically all be announced by the end of this week, those pupils who have been writing tests for examinations. School will have to wait several weeks before the decision on their ability has been made.

Preliminary and junior year results at the High School will also be out this week, while matriculation pass lists will not be issued until late next month.

Four changes are contemplated in the school system over the holiday. At the High School, however, where over crowded conditions during the last term have led to the decision of the School Board to exclude students resident of Saanich Municipality, there will be a noticeable alteration.

Over 1,800 pupils have been attending High during the present term, and the elimination of the Saanich students this number will be somewhat reduced for the fall term. All classrooms in the school have lately been pressed into service and provision made for extra accommodation, but this condition will be altered over the holiday.

"While Mr. Daykin's inquiry is still proceeding, he filed with Hon. S. L. Howe, Acting Minister of Lands, an interim report finding, in effect, that Government funds had been used improperly on the development of privately-owned land in the University area, and prepared to secure restitution of misspent Government funds."

It will be seen that the largest month was April when the permit for the Empress Hotel addition was taken out.

The municipality of Oak Bay, covering the five-month period ending May 31, announced a building total of $267,570.

The month of May recorded a figure of $95,000, and with June bid at $60,000, slightly less than the previous month, a total for the six-month period of $367,570 is estimated.

The tests are expected to be completed within a week. Bromley then plans to fly to Tacoma, to await favorable weather for his transpacific solo attempt.

No Early Permit For Leon Trotsky to Enter Britain Is Expected

Vancouver, June 27.—Royal Anne and Diana, who are to be married in the Okanagan district, in volume by the first week in July. The Kelowna district reports a big crop, about thirty-five per cent more than last year. The crop across the line is not heavy this year and orders have been received in the valley from United States canneries for Royal Anne.

The Windermere British Columbia experimental farm will be visited about Aug. 1, and en route through the Okanagan the Minister will see pre-cooling plants and also meet fruit men to discuss their problems, hoping to solve some of them relating to quality and marketing.

The Vancouver Exhibition will be opened by Mr. Motherwell August 12 and then a few days will be spent at Nanaimo, Comox, Alberni and Victoria.

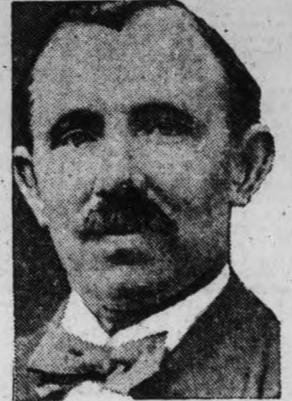

London, June 27.—A majority of the members of the British Cabinet was understood to-day to be against granting permission to enter Great Britain to Leon Trotsky, former Bolshevik leader exiled in Constantinople. No official decision has yet been reached, but the question was put before the new Labor Ministers.

While no official intimation was given, political news gatherers learned the Cabinet was divided on the question, but that the majority of the Ministers favored deferring the decision until negotiations for renewal of diplomatic relations between the Soviet Union and Great Britain were completed.

Predicting the ashes of Bliss Carman, Canada's great poet, would eventually find their resting place on the hillside "overlooking his own city of Fredericton," Dr. Roberts paid a fitting tribute to the memory of the present dominant party in Russia, great friend.

DIVERS THOUGHT TO HAVE FOUND
KLONDYKE GOLD

Five Weeks' Search For Lost
Safe of Islander Reported
Successful

Seattle, June 27.—A deep-sea hunt, involving a fortune in gold dust and nuggets that went to the bottom of the North Pacific twenty-eight years ago in a shipwreck of southbound Klondike miners, appeared to-day to have been successful.

Cablegrams received yesterday morning by Mrs. Henry Finch, wife of Capt. Henry Finch, well-known Seattle diver and salvage expert, advised that her husband's fruitless search in Stevens Passage, Alaska, for the treasure lost in the wreck of the steamship Islander in 1901 had been successful.

The Islander, known in her day as the finest steamship on the North Pacific, went down in 272 feet of water off the south end of Douglas Island August 15, 1901, after it was submerged, leaking and foundering. Thirty-six lives were lost in the disaster and the ship carried with it to the bottom a fortune in raw gold variously estimated to be worth from $100,000 to $600,000.

SAFE FOUND

Associated Press dispatches from Juneau said that Capt. Finch had reported finding what he believed to be the safe of the steamer, estimated to be about 100 feet from the bottom, and intended returning to the scene to start attempting to raise it. Mrs. Finch said that cablegrams from her husband had been successful, although none of the messages she said, mentioned either the safe or its supposed contents.

The wreck of the Islander was long known as one of the most terrible in early marine history on the North Pacific. Owned by the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company, the ship was built at Glasgow at a cost of more than $200,000. She was a magnificent twin-screw vessel, 240 feet long, with forty-two-foot beam, 100 feet wide, having freight capacity and great speed.

The wreck occurred early in the morning, nine miles from Juneau and a half-mile off shore, at the head of Stevens Passage, off the south end of Douglas Island.

MEET IN STRAITS

Under present arrangements for the tactics, the landing parties will leave Victoria and Vancouver Saturday morning, meeting in the straits.

In command of Lieut.-Col. Don Martin, D.O., M.C., with Canadian Scottish Regiment, and signal and ambulance companies will embark aboard the H.M.C.S. Armentières and H.M.C.S. Thiepval at Victoria, leaving at 9 o'clock for the meeting point in the straits.

The Vancouver contingent will consist of units of the Seaforth Highlanders under Lieut.-Col. R. M. Blair, V.D.; Royal Irish Fusiliers under Lieut.-Col. A. M. Brown; Vancouver Regiment under Lieut.-Col. E. H. Conroy; New Westminster Regiment, 7 G. Regt., a detachment of the C.B. Light Horse, the 18th Field Ambulance and the Sixth Field Company, Canadian Engineers.

Under cover of naval guns these forces will land at Maple Bay where a mobile anti-aircraft battery will protect them from an air attack or from hidden defences of the enemy. Before nightfall it is expected lines will be extended inland as far as Qualicum L'ne. Camps will be pitched for the night.

CRONOTAPH CEREMONY

On Sunday, July 1, will be called in this game of war and all units will march into Duncan for a short ceremony at the cenotaph there.

Field manoeuvres will form the major part of the programme for Monday, with bluejackets from naval ships to assist. The following day the return home will be made.

The object of this tactical warfare, as it is called, is to give militia officers and non-commissioned officers additional training not included in regular drill. A real experience of landing in the face of enemy fire will be provided. Great interest is being taken in the event by members of the various regiments, and it is expected that all units will turn out in full strength.

Mr. Thomas, who is Lord Privy Seal in the new Labor administration, but is devoting his energies to reducing unemployment in Great Britain, also will make personal inquiries concerning the possibility of some common agreement between Great Britain and other parts of the Empire under which the development of world trade inter-

Esthetic necessity will be undertaken by the Dominions with financial aid from Britain, with the object also of providing an outlet for the surplus of British labor.

He will be the first member of the new MacDonald Government to visit Canada.

It is understood that at a recent meeting of the Cabinet Mr. Thomas produced proposals for an inquiry into the possibility of large works of general utility and development which might be undertaken in any part of the Empire, including the Dominions as well as crown colonies. According to the scheme, the Dominion will be asked to what extent they are prepared to guarantee employment in Great Britain and manufacturing in such works if the British Government offers certain financial inducements.

Enquiries on the matter were to reach the Dominions immediately, it was believed.

Mr. Thomas made a brief visit to Montreal last year on private affairs and to attend the wedding of his son in the Canadian city.

GREATER EMPIRE TRADE DEBATED

Wrangell, Alaska, June 27.—The body of Alec Macdonald, well-known prospector and trapper of the Liard River district, was found in his cabin beside the Rapid River, according to word brought down by passengers aboard a Skagway River boat.

Macdonald had been shot through the head and his cabin looted of fur traps. He had been a trapper and trapper made a fortune in mining on McKee Creek, and his assailant may have expected to find more furs as worth-while plunder. It is believed here Macdonald had deposited most of the money he made from his mining claims in a bank.

The murdered victim lived alone and seldom ventured from the wild country in which he worked his mine claim and trap lines. He recently visited a Liard River trading post and left with his dog sled laden with ammunition.

Canadian Chamber of Commerce Looks to Congress in London in 1930

Montreal, June 27.—Various national questions of economic importance were considered at a meeting of the national executive of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce here yesterday under the presidency of Mr. M. L. Macken.

Appointments to the national committee on agriculture, consisting of outstanding business agriculturists in the various provinces, were confirmed. They include: British Columbia, W. L. Macken.

This committee will have under consideration the agricultural educational programmes for boards of trade and chambers of commerce, extension of the agricultural district representative system and analysis of the cost of distribution of farm products.

The work of the Canadian Fire Watch Council was discussed and arrangements were made for presentation to the Chamber's convention in Alberta next September of the plans for a national intertown and city competition during the year 1930.

FISHERIES DISCUSSION

The national executive approved of the submitting to its members a memorandum on a national fisheries policy for Canada based on the recommendations made by the Canadian Fisheries Association.

Recognizing that the 1930 congress of Federated Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire to be held in London in October next year would afford an opportunity for an Empire businessmen's conference to discuss greater and freer trade within the Empire, the executive committee decided to make the question of greater Empire preferences be made the feature of the conference. It urges steps be taken to ensure the coming together of a truly representative gathering of Empire business interests for that purpose.

FOG AT WASHINGTON

MR. J. F. LIVESAY, MANAGER OF THE Canadian Press Limited, who is in Washington looking into the tariff situation, writes that the whole question has been beggared by demands from all quarters for favorable tariff conditions. Designed originally to relieve the United States farmers, the legislation has grown into unrecognizable proportions, and in its present form satisfies nobody. Everybody wants a slice of it, with the result that the farmers are now complaining that the bill is of no good to them because whatever increases it enables them to charge the consumers for their products is more than offset by the additional charges they will have to pay for farming implements, lumber, sugar, clothing and other articles which have been incorporated in the bill.

There is nothing new in this situation. Once the tariff door is open everybody wants to get in to the feast, and all demand seats at the head table. The victim, of course, is the consumer who gets stuck all around. The tariff development at Washington affords striking proof of the contention of those who oppose the so-called "protectionist" policy, that increased customs duties raise the prices of the "protected" goods to the consumer. This ought to be obvious, anyway, because if protection did not have this effect it would not protect.

Ninety per cent of the press of the United States is hostile, for various reasons, to the tariff bill. This is the conclusion which has been drawn by administration officials at Washington from the large batch of newspaper clippings on the subject submitted to President Hoover. And this certainly was not what the president intended or expected when he announced his policy of "limited tariff revision." But it is what politicians more experienced could have told him would happen when he started tinkering with the tariff. Congressional elections two years from now may furnish still further proof that the administration had been playing with a double-edged sword.

The American farmer is suffering from too much protection. His cost of production is being increased by the fact that the things he buys have to climb over a tariff wall before they get to him. At the same time, because the tariff makes it difficult for foreign nations to sell to the United States, they cannot buy his surplus. If a nation cannot sell, it cannot buy. The Canadian grain growers found that out long ago. Canada would be ruined if they had to pay more for what they buy and could not export their grain, since the home market could not consume more than one-third of her grain production.

The indications are that the United States tariff bill will be whittled down to harmless proportions. This is the suggestion of Mr. Livesay as the result of his appraisal of the situation at Washington.

TO KILL WAR TALK

AT THE ANNUAL CONVENTION OF the Kiwanis organization at Milwaukee this morning Harold M. Diggon, of this city, who is chairman of the Public Affairs Committee for the Dominion of Canada, introduced a resolution which would put Kiwanis International on record as opposed to the frequent reference by public men to "the next great war" as if another devastating conflict was inevitable.

The point is well taken. There is a good deal more in suggestion than most of us are willing to admit. If we persist in talking about war, the war complex, in greater or lesser degree, will find some form of manifestation. We may use the same argument in the case of peace. It should be the duty of mankind generally to think in terms of peace, to recognize that war as a means of dealing with international disputes is both brutal and futile, that another such conflagration as that which rocked the world between 1914 and 1918 would deal our civilization a blow from which it would have difficulty in recovering.

The sceptics and scoffers, of course, will be with us always; but the number is dwindling. The work of the League of Nations, a great deal more effective than spectacular, has confounded them. It has been able to compose several differences between nations that in the old days would have drawn the sword with little hesitation. And as its influence grows, aided by such undertakings as the Kellogg pact, governments will be less likely to pursue policies which might provoke international discord.

The reminder which Mr. Diggon has included in his Kiwanis resolution, therefore, is a timely one for everybody. It will promote discussion of peace among the members of one of the great international service bodies. On that account it is bound to do good.

VOTES AND SEATS

WE ARE TOLD BY A CONTEMPORARY that the new Labor Government in Great Britain holds power by virtue of having elected more members than any other political party, not with any mandate for the putting into effect of Labor policies. It reaches this conclusion after noting that the forces led by Premier MacDonald polled only 8,500,000 votes as against something like 14,000,000 votes polled by Conservatives and Liberals.

There is nothing very extraordinary about this division and the anomaly it presents as far as party representation in Parliament is concerned. When Mr. Baldwin took office after the defeat of the first Labor Government in 1924 he had a House majority of 223; yet his party polled something like 625,000 votes less than the combined opposition. Nor will matters be any different under the existing electoral system.

Whether Britain will adopt the proportional representation system remains to be seen. The desirability of some change, however, seems to be recognized by all parties. The recent election showed that "to him that hath" was the rule. The Conservative Party, though losing the position of the largest representation in the House, yet obtained a score of seats more than it would have been allowed under proportional representation. Labor fared still better, winning nearly seventy seats beyond its just allotment. On the other hand, P. R. statisticians observe, the Liberal Party is some eighty seats worse off than it would have been on a uniform distribution of the votes given at the polls.

Viewed from this standpoint, therefore, the result does not reflect adequately the will of the electorate. It also is to be borne in mind that not only is the state of parties in Parliament misleading in this respect, but Parliament no doubt suffers through the exclusion of many able men whose participation in legislation would be of great value to the nation, and who would have obtained seats under a rational election system. For the time being the Liberals will have put up with the ill-luck of the polls; but another party may be in that unenviable position in the future. It, therefore, is altogether likely that electoral reform may be pressed for during the life of the present Parliament.

One commentator points out that it is a matter in which the Conservatives should be deeply interested, since the trend of politics at present is more than it has yet been towards a division of the community from side to side rather than from top to bottom. And he contends that if that movement continues and the electoral system is not changed, conservatism may easily find itself for some time to come only negligibly represented in Parliament. "Ministers who have now left office," he concludes, "would then regret in bitterness and humiliation that puffed up with the pride of a great majority, they refused in the Parliament of 1924 to safeguard their party against virtual extinction by timely reform of the methods of parliamentary election. By omitting so obviously necessary a change Conservatism supplied indubitable evidence that it has not lost its title to the stamp of the stupid party."

In any event, the result of the recent contest has encouraged the champions of electoral reform to still more ardent advocacy of the proportional representation system.

EMPIRE TRADE

HON. R. B. BENNETT WANTS AN EMPIRE trading arrangement which would not work to the detriment of native industry in any country that would be party to the agreement. His idea is a combination of business with reasonable protection. Congressional elections two years from now may furnish still further proof that the administration had been playing with a double-edged sword.

A great scientist examines life—and finds that science doesn't know much about it after all. A great injustice was committed at Skunk's Misery—over the theft of a pie—and Italy claims Mr. Cominio's $900.

KIRK'S WELLINGTON COAL

"Does Last Longer"

who named the place knew what he was doing after all.

EVERY ONCE in a while, as science peers into the infinite and thinks it is fathoming the immost secrets there, someone comes along and gives its telescopes and test tubes a healthful jolt. Such a useful function has just been performed by Professor Arthur S. Eddington of Cambridge University, acknowledged to be one of the greatest scientists of the modern world. Professor Eddington has delivered a notable lecture in London, and into the halting, colorless words of scientific language he has put all the worthwhile lessons that science and life have taught him. You have read his lecture twice, some passages several times, and then there are obscure bits, for this man is trying to put very intangible ideas into sentences. But out of it all emerges a great ambassador from one who has plumbined natural science to its depths. This admission is that natural science doesn't know anything about the only part of life that really matters—and can never know.

HAVING STUDIED the whirling electron and the milky way, Professor Eddington, in his search for the meaning of life, has gone from natural science to the borders of mysticism.

From him comes no condemnation of the mystic, but a stirring defence: "Are we," he asks, "in pursuing the mystical outlook, facing the hard facts of experience? Surely we are. I think that those who would wish to take cognizance of nothing but the measurements of the scientific world made by our sense organs, are shrinking one of the most immediate facts of experience, namely that consciousness is not wholly, not even primarily, a device for receiving sense impressions. We may be more boldly inclined to follow the lines of deduction laid down by science as appropriate to the seen world." Professor Eddington further declares that he is "wholly opposed" to any attempt to "base religion on scientific discovery" for: "The most flawless proof of the existence of God is no substitute for it, and if we have that relation to the most convincing disproof is turned harmlessly aside."

GOING A step still further, Professor Eddington sets himself against a cold-blooded conception of a universe and a law of nature which takes no account of individuals or personalities. "It is, I think," he says, "of the very essence of the unseen world that the conception of personalitv should dominate it. Force, energy, dimensions, belong to the world of symbols; it is out of such conceptions that we have built up the external world of physics. What other conceptions have we?" After exhausting physical methods we returned to the immost recesses of consciousness to the voice that preaches our personality and freedom: when we entered a new continent. We have to build the spiritual world out of symbols taken from our own personality, as we build the scientific world out of the symbols of the mathematician. I think, therefore, that we are not wrong in embodying the significance of the spiritual world to ourselves in the feeling of a personal relationship, for our whole approach to it is bound up with other aspects of consciousness in which personality is centred." In these days of doubt and upheaval it is comforting to the rest of us to have a scientist as eminent as Professor Eddington on the side of the angels.

EVERY TRUE British cheek must have blushed with shame at the gross injustice lately perpetrated at Skunk's Misery, Ontario. In case you have not heard of this revolting story, and have failed to blush for shame, there lived at Skunk's Misery, Ontario, one Orval Shaw. Now, Mr. Shaw, evidently having little affection for the other inhabitants of this enlightened community, had taken to a swamp where, very wisely, he dwelt by himself. Occasionally running short of food, for the game in these parts is evidently confined to a species not generally considered edible, Mr. Shaw would make a tour of the farmer's homes round about and help himself to a roast, some canned fruits, or a few eggs. The farmers, not appreciating the extraordinary service rendered to their district by Mr. Shaw, as shall be seen later, complained to the police and after weeks of search all over Ontario, Mr. Shaw was captured. Last week he was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

THE INGRATITUDE of the farmers to any lover of British fair play. There was Skunk's Misery, drooping away through the centuries without anyone outside of its boundaries ever having heard of it. Suddenly Mr. Shaw steals an apple pie and escapes to some distant part of Ontario. There is a hue and cry which shakes the whole of that ancient province, and for the first time all Canada learns that within its boundaries is the charming community of Skunk's Misery. Never before the theft of that apple pie had the Dominion realized that such a place was numbered among its available resources, that it had here an asset as unique as Niagara Falls. Never before had it imagined that any place in the world could bear such a name. All the credit for this priceless national discovery must go to Mr. Shaw, and with him to jail. Had the publicity bureau known its business; had the police authorities the faintest sense of the fitness of things; had the citizens of Skunk's Misery the smallest atom of gratitude in their souls, or a spark of civic consciousness. Instead of sending Mr. Shaw to jail they would elect him mayor and raise a statue to this modern Columbus in the very centre of Skunk's Misery. Nearby they might lynch the man who named the town. But they didn't do any of these things, the degraded citizens of Skunk's Misery. And perhaps the man

RESOURCES PLANS ARE ACCEPTED

Manitoba-Federal Conference at Ottawa Success, States Premier King

Ottawa, June 27.—Representatives of the Government and the Government of Manitoba have accepted the findings of the Royal Commission on Manitoba Natural Resources "as the basis of the settlement of the natural resources question." They agreed to take the necessary action for legislative approval upon completion of the consideration of the details.

This announcement was made by Premier King yesterday afternoon after a conference between representatives of the Federal and Provincial Governments. The conference, it was announced involved the transfer of the resources and the financial adjustments.

The recommendations of the commission provide for a payment of $4,584,212 in cash to the province of Manitoba "as the balance due for arrears." The report recommends that when the population reaches 500,000 the province should receive annually $562,500. When the population reaches 800,000 the sum will be increased to $750,000. Finally, when the population attains the figure of 1,200,000 the annual payable annually will rise to $1,125,000, and will remain unchanged thereafter. Legislation will be necessary in both Federal and Provincial Parliaments before the payments become effective.

Premier's Statement

The statement of the Prime Minister was as follows:

"Following the submission of the report of the Royal Commission on the Resources and Natural Resources of Manitoba, a conference was held in the Prime Minister's office on June 26 between representatives of the Governments of Canada and Manitoba. The Federal Government was represented by the Prime Minister, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Hon. James Robb, Charles Stewart, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Hon. Robert Forke and Hon. J. L. Balston. The Government of Manitoba was represented by the Premier, Hon. John Bracken, and the Attorney-General, Hon. W. J. Major, and by counsel for the province, A. B. Pudsen, K.C., and R. W. Craig, K.C.

Vancouver, June 27.—Taxation of T. G. McLellan's bill of costs against former Police Commissioner T. W. Fletcher for his legal services at last year's police inquiry has been avoided by Mr. Fletcher's filing a consent judgment for the full amount. The judgment is for $2,500, which includes $2,250 for the police inquiry and $250 for the recent suit in which judgment was given against Mr. Fletcher. This makes $10,000 the former commissioner had to pay for the legal services he had at the time the bill of G. G. McGee, K.C., having been taxed at $7,500.

STOVE EXPLODES, DESTROYS HOUSE

Summer Home at Deep Cove Scene of Spectacular Fire

Explosion of a small gasoline stove at 5:30 o'clock last evening, resulted in the complete destruction by fire of the summer home occupied by E. P. F. Ross and his family.

Mr. Ross and his family and some friends were in the house at the time the fire spread with such rapidity that nearly everything in the house was lost. The children were first rushed to safety out of reach of the flames, but efforts to retrieve belongings from the blazing premises were unsuccessful. Even the clothing Mr. Ross was wearing was singed.

The family had to return to the city last night.

The fire caused much excitement in the summer colony around Deep Cove. Assisting neighbors were able to get the flames extinguished only when there was nothing left but a mass of embers. They were able, however, to keep the fire from spreading to other property.

PREMIER OPENS GARDEN PARTY AT "BENVENUTO"

Annual Fete of Women's Canadian Club Proves Great Success

The Premier, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, formally opened the garden party of the Women's Canadian Club at Benvenuto yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by Mrs. Tolmie and Miss Carol Tolmie.

The Premier paid tribute to the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Butchart in giving the public use of their beautiful grounds, one of the greatest attractions on Vancouver Island for bringing visitors to Victoria.

The Premier, who was introduced by Mrs. C. C. Spofford, president of the Women's Canadian Club, congratulated the organization on its work, which it was doing both in the local and Do-It-in-a-wide-sense in widening women's horizon and revealing the greater opportunities which the country held. In offering scholarships and bursaries to Victoria students the local society was doing its part in the work of building up better citizens, and he hoped the young meet with success in its undertaking.

Major Anscomb, who was accompanied by Mrs. Anscomb, also spoke briefly, referring to the boundless hospitality shown by Mr. and Mrs. Butchart in lending their beautiful gardens constantly for just such purposes. It showed a magnificent public spirit.

Tea was served in the Japanese Gardens. Both before and after tea guests seized the opportunity to visit the sunken garden, which is at its midsummer best at present, and the Japanese garden, where the temples, with their magnificently hung ground of roses, offer an excellent vantage point from which to watch the charming dances given by pupils of Miss Violet Fowkes and Miss Nancy Ferguson.

The programme was convened by Mrs. P. B. Scurrah and Mrs. D. B. McConan, and consisted of dancing on the greenwood. Miss Fowler's pupils presented the following numbers: "Blue Danube," danced by Beverley Vail, Helen Peden, Peggy Macdougall, Adeline Grant and Maureen Grute; "Butterflies," danced by nine small girls with golden-winged costumes, Eleanor Brooke, Ethel Gillis, Anna Pomeroy, Wilma Steele, Joan Paley, Lou Russell, Dorothy Graham, Gladys Harrison and Tootsie Holt; "Bubble Dance," danced by Maureen Grute; and "Soft Shoe" dance, presented by Phyllis Petherbridge, Helen Peden, Peggy Macdougall, Leonore Fletcher, Begna Waring, Thelma Richardson, Beverley Vail and Maureen Grute. The piano accordion accompaniment for this last highly popular number was played by Miss Fowler.

The artistes in Rumanian costumes, played on the south stars of the terrace, the natural background of greenery and masses of summer flowers in all their brilliance making a truly beautiful picture. CAPABILITIES OF FIVE YEAR OLD

Surely there exists no thinking person but was horrified at the recent trial which ended in the conviction of a five year old child and the sentencing him to fifteen years in a reformatory. Fifteen formative, not re-formative years, these would be, in which this child would emerge unable to adjust himself to life of living conditions, a potential criminal and probably a degenerate.

Had this boy been familiar with the law he would have known what he seen it in frequent use? Had he even heard his parents, even in jest, remark that they were so angry they could kill someone (and who hasn't been guilty of such far-fetched remarks which one expects to be regarded with humor)? What about the responsibility of the parent who lets a loaded shotgun go off so easily reach a six year old child?

We are not in this sad affair, overlooking the bereaved parents. They deserve our utmost sympathy, but surely they would not feel that the loss of their child could be compensated for by depriving another child of freedom and happiness. He is loaded down with sins. He may laugh and play around now, unaware of the currents around him, but as he grows into a sense of responsibility, this tragedy will leave on him a mark that no one can erase. This is what he will have to bear, and no jury-imposed sentence can compare with it in future misery and futile self-accusation.

The child is not just overjoyed at the period when he actually did not know the difference between morning and afternoon, to-day and to-morrow. Ask the average five year old and you'll discover he can't explain it. They are words in daily use with him, yet he must be six years old before he grasps their meaning.

The child of five is just learning to conceive himself; hencebefore he has no such ability. He isn't introspective enough to be able to blame himself for what happens. He is still too imaginative to entirely differentiate between the real and imaginary. Only knowledge and years more of it will give him this ability.

The five and six year old is so active, so clever with his fingers, it is hard to believe the opportunity to use them in all kinds of ways, that he seems older than he is. It is only when we line up his mental capacities that we realize we are dealing with a developing individual but one whose limited experiences make it impossible for one to blame him for anything. He hasn't reached, and won't reach for a long time, the stage of personal and moral responsibility.

Happily, one feels that this verdict will probably be reversed before this is published. The horror and indignation of the parents of his own community and of communities for whom he has been made the possibility of the carrying out of this sentence too remote to be contemplated seriously.

The groom was supported by Mr. John Brown, brother of the bride.

Following the service at the church,

a reception was held in Amphion Hall, where about 250 guests assembled to offer their felicitations.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Oldaker of Seattle, Mr. T. Leeming of Seattle and Mrs. Ballou of Princeton, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Coles left on the mid-night boat for Vancouver, and will be in Seattle prior to returning to Victoria to make their future home on North Park Street.

Among the other out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Oldaker of Seattle, Mr. T. Leeming of Seattle and Mrs. Ballou of Princeton, B.C.

Mr. Arthur Kohl entertained this afternoon at his home on St. Patrick Street, Oak Bay, with several tables of bridge.

Mrs. F. D. Hammond and her two sons of St. Patrick Street, Oak Bay, have left by motor for Nelson to spend the summer months.

Mrs. C. W. Dowell of Vancouver is visiting in Victoria as the guest of her cousin, Mrs. R. Mathews, Wark Street, from Portland, Oregon. They are guests at The Angels.

Mrs. and Miss Hoyt, Mrs. William Sinnott and Mrs. Roger Sinnott comprise a party of visitors in Victoria from Portland, Oregon. They are guests at The Angels.

On Saturday afternoon, St. Luke's Church will hold a garden party at the home of Mr. F. E. Mason, Cadboro Bay. There will be many attractions, ice cream, candy, home produce, bradip, lawn golf and sports for the children.

Lieut.-Colonel the Hon. F. G. Hood and Mrs. Hood arrived in Victoria this afternoon from Edinburgh, Scotland, and will make their future home in Victoria. At present they are the guests of Judge and Mrs. P. S. Lampman, Elford Street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. H. Thompson, Chambers Street, Victoria, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Bessie, of this city, to Mr. Thomas Clifford Babcock, son of Capt. James Babcock, and the late Mrs. Babcock of North Vancouver. The wedding will take place quietly during the latter part of July.

Comparing this figure with those of the leading Canadian industries, it is found that our mineral and pulp and paper production from a point of view of gross revenue and that apart from these two, is surpassed only by agriculture and the construction industry. Judging by the tremendous strides it is making, it will not be long before the tourist traffic will rank at least the third and probably the second most important revenue-producer in Canada.

Five YEARS' GROWTH

Here are the figures showing the approximate gross expenditures of tourists in Canada during the past five years:

Tourists Expenditures in Canada

Year 1924 ..... $158,876,000

1925 ..... 177,832,000

1926 ..... 185,791,000

1927 ..... 215,783,000

1928 ..... 250,501,000

1929 (estimated) ..... 300,000,000

The tabulation of these tourist figures has become an important factor and is closely checked, not only by various municipal and provincial bureaus, but also by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa. At Ottawa, Canada's tourist trade is divided into three classes. First, those tourists entering Canada via ocean ports. Secondly, those entering from the United States by automobile. Statistics are very complete, covering these three classes of people and obtained, in part, from checking the official records of arrivals kept by the Department of Immigration and Colonization and also from the automobile records kept by the Department of National Revenue.

MOTORISTS' BIG SPENDERS

The most important class of tourists are those from the United States who enter by automobile. The estimated expenditure for this class of tourist in 1928 was $167,000,000 as compared with $140,000,000 the year previous, or approximately a 25 per cent increase.

The number of tourist automobiles entering Canada increased by about 1 per cent, so that not only were there more cars coming in, but the tourists are spending more money each year at our hotels, resorts, stores and so forth.

According to provinces, Ontario showed the greatest increase in automobile revenue, being credited with $16,000,000 of the $35,000,000 jump over 1927. Quebec is credited with an increase of $12,000,000 and British Columbia $3,000,000. These provincial expenditures are only approximate in that they are based on the actual expenditure, but according to the port at which automobile enter, the tourist is usually from a British Columbia point of entry, but might spend most of his money in Alberta or some other western provinces. He would be credited at Ottawa, with spending it in British Columbia.

547 PER CAPITA

As far as tourists by rail and steamer from the United States are concerned, the records show an increase of 48,000 over 1927 or slightly over three per cent. The average expenditure of this class of tourist is estimated at $47.

WELL-KNOWN COUPLE WED

Miss Nellie Brown and Mr. Walter Richard Coles married at St. Barnabas Church

St. Barnabas Church was the scene last evening at 7:30 o'clock of the wedding of Nellie, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown, Pandora Avenue, and Mr. Walter Richard Coles, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Coles, Fernwood Road. Rev. N. E. Smith performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white crepe de chine. The lace-trimmed veil and the conventional wedding veil of soft tulle attached to her head with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and carnations.

BRAKE TESTING GREAT SUCCESS

Only Five Per Cent of 2,000
Cars Tested Are Found
Defective

Response of Public Gratifies
Automobile Club Officials

Officials of the Automobile Club of British Columbia are extremely gratified with the results of the brake testing campaign carried out in Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in connection with "Safety Week," according to a statement issued by the secretary.

Two thousand cars were tested during the three days, and of this number less than five per cent were found to have defective brakes. Of this number the great majority soon reported back to the police with the defects repaired.

"The campaign has had a great effect in arousing motorists to a realization of the necessity of greater care in driving and there can be no question but that accidents will be cut down as a result," the statement says.

"A very large percentage of the membership of the Automobile Club were noticed having their brakes tested. Practically all of the equipment of the safety week, including the motor car, was tested and found to be in good condition, including Vancouver Island Coach Lines Limited, Calwell and Calwell, the Grey Line, Victoria Drive Yourself Auto Livery, Hill's Drive Yourself Auto Livery and the Blue Line.

PAT MORE ATTENTION

The percentage of defective cars was not found to be large, but still they constituted a number that is a source of danger. Sixty-three of these had been properly adjusted and repaired due to the fact that the drivers last evening. It is certain that all motorists are paying more attention to their brakes than they did previous to the campaign. Many reported having had their brakes put in order immediately before submitting their cars for test.

Officers of the Automobile Club are most appreciative of the manner in which the public has responded to the appeal. If this effort results in the saving of one life or the cutting down of the number of the more or less minor accidents, then the energy put into it and the expense will be entirely justified.

POLICE CONGRATULATED

The Victoria city police department is to be congratulated on the efficient manner in which the work of testing was carried out. Courtesy has been the keynote of the campaign and no motorist has been put to unnecessary inconvenience or loss of time.

The Provincial Police department have extra patrols on the roadsides in the hope of giving strict attention to the matter of brakes, and this will also result in the lessening of the danger existing with the growing traffic. It is hoped that the glaring headlight menace can be handled in some similar way soon in this campaign for greater safety."

In addition there was scaled 2,795,035 linear feet, 13,427 cords, and 369,823 hewn ties.

In May, 1928, the figures showed 328,758,921 feet, 2,845,000 linear feet, 18,182 cords and 297,687 hewn ties.

This month was a heavy one in the matter of scaling exceeding any other month of the year by a very large amount.

The figures given for May of this year bring the total for the present year up to 1,024,326,612 feet, 10,831,550 linear feet, 79,748 cords, and 1,725,327 hewn ties.

In the scaling for the month of May, air has the customary long lead on the logs passed on under board measure. There were 117,524,971 feet scaled under the heading of Cedar followed next to this, but still a long way behind. There were 55,399,191 feet of this timber included. Hemlock was third in the race with 35,688,743 feet.

Under the linear feet classification which takes in the poles, scald, cedar and so on, the lead was 2,601,444. Of the coverage recorded, cedar was the main part with 8,485 cords, and under hewn ties the great part were composed of jackpine, making up 246,515 of them.

DEEP SEA, COASTWISE SHIPPING AND RAILROAD NEWS

Old Canadian Raider Is Sold For $7,000

H.M.C.S. Vancouver Leaves For Mainland To Join Colombo

A six freighter Canadian Raider, one of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine ships built in North Vancouver in 1920, was recently sold to the Canada Metal Company Ltd. for $7,000. She is being broken up for scrap. The Raider was built at the Scarff shipyards at North Vancouver at a cost of $210 a deadweight ton or a total of $1,071,000.

The Raider grounded in Hudson Bay last fall and was laid in when preparations were being made to salvage her. With the spring this year the ship was salvaged and towed to St. John, which port she reached on May 21.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, June 27.—A drastic reduction in the transpacific shipping rates on raw silk has been voted by the Japanese in a transpacific conference in Tokio, it was learned yesterday. The rates quoted by the Kawasaki Line, a large carrier of Japanese silk, were considerably lower than those fixed by the conference.

Yoshitomo Sato, a seventeen-year-old Japanese stowaway on the liner Taiyo Maru, was discovered by steamship officials yesterday when he fell in the water while trying to make his way to shore. Sato secreted himself among the

Provincial Law Not To Be Infringed By Ardenza's Whisky Sale

Disposal of 4,741 Cases of Liquor on July 18 Not to Be Permitted to Conflict With Provincial Statute, Says F. W. Davey, Collector of Customs and Excise; Liquor Board Expected to Purchase Seized Stock.

By announcing publicly the sale by auction on July 18 of 4,741 cases of seized whisky the Federal Government is merely complying with the requirements of the Customs Act, it was stated to-day by Fred W. Davey, Collector of Customs and excise, when asked if the sale of the Ardenza's liquor cargo did not conflict with the provincial statute respecting the sale of liquor.

RESERVATIONS MADE

There were certain reservations in the terms of sale, he implied, that would prevent the whisky being sold to anyone but the Liquor Control Board of the Province.

The Ardenza's liquor cargo, he said, was subject to the payment of duty and other charges. No sale would be recognized that was not in full accordance with the provincial liquor laws.

PAPERS OVERBOARD

The whisky comprises the balance of the cargo of the liquor carrier Ardenza, which was seized by the customs for the payment of duty charges.

On the occasion of the seizure about five years ago the ship's cook considered the consequences and threw the papers overboard.

LONGSHOREMAN HURT IN FALL

George Lassen, longshoreman, 33 Simcoe Street, who was injured last night in a fall from the Japanese freighter Hayo Maru, was reported progressing favorably in the Jubilee Hospital.

Mr. Lassen suffered severe lacerations and bruises when he dropped about twenty feet from the ship to the deck. He was assisting in the loading of the vessel with heavy timbers when his peers sprang back and hurled him over the ship's side. He struck one of the scow's stanchions in the fall.

Brought up to the ship on a stretcher improvised from a hatch cover by fellow workmen, he was rushed to the hospital where Dr. J. H. Moore attended him.

RUTH ALEXANDER TO DOCK AT 2 A.M.

From San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco the Pacific Steamship Company's coastal passenger liner Ruth Alexander will arrive at the Ritner piers here at 2 o'clock tomorrow morning, according to wireless advice received at noon to-day from Capt. Frank Landstrom, master of the vessel.

For the port the ship has seventy tons of general cargo and seventy-five passengers. Passengers will disembark at 6 o'clock and the ship will clear for Seattle at 7 o'clock.

The Makura was formerly in the British Columbia-Australia service, but upon the advent of the Aranui six years ago she was put on the California-Australia run. She is smaller than either the Aranui or the Niagara.

In order to obtain a more accurate record of travel between the United States and Canada, the United States Department of Immigration, effective July 1, will require that all persons moving between the two countries must be passed at the port of debarkation instead of at the port of embarkation, as at the present time.

The new ruling will not only effect passengers traveling between British Columbia and Puget Sound ports, but also passengers traveling between Seattle and California calling at Victoria.

Passengers from Canada who board ships of the Pacific Steamship Company at Victoria, as well as being both examined and passed here will also have to go through the immigration rules at San Francisco, Los Angeles or San Diego.

Makura Sails For Northern Ports In Place Of Aorangi

Replacing the motor liner Aorangi, which will be put in drydock in Sydney for annual overhaul, the liner Makura sailed from Sydney this morning for Victoria and Vancouver, by way of Auckland, Suva and Honolulu. She is scheduled to arrive here on July 18.

The new ruling will mean that immigration inspectors will meet all ships from California that call at Victoria-Seattle, and all passengers, whether they have been ashore or not in British Columbia, must be passed by the inspectors before they are allowed to debark at the Sound port.

French-Canadians Will Tour the West

Montreal, June 27.—About a hundred French speaking citizens of Montreal have made arrangements to make a round trip of Canada under the auspices of the University of Montreal. A special train has been chartered by the university from the Canadian Pacific Railway which will house the party on its entire trip from July 5 to 27.

The object of the trip is two-fold: to familiarize the French-speaking students with English and French Canadians and will enable French Canadians to see the beauty spots of western Canada. It is an annual event, inaugurated by the Montreal University five years ago.

Ignorance Will Out

They were returning from a trip to France and the white cliffs of Dover were getting clearer and clearer as the steamer ploughed through the choppy seas.

A boisterous man of the red-faced type so often encountered on such excursions was airing his knowledge of things in general, but he was puzed at rounds of laughter which greeted his cheery announcement:

"Well, we shall soon be on pomme de terre again now!"

Bobby Jones Plays Sensationally to Lead In U.S. Open

Atlanta Wizard Has A Brilliant 69 to Top Large Field

Finishes Second Nine of First Round With Amazing 31, Five Under Par, to Gain One Stroke Lead Over Gene Sarazen, Who Turns in a 70; First Time Jones Has Ever Broken Par in U.S. Open; Johnny Farrell, Defending Champion, Collapses, Taking an 84; Charles Hilgendorf, an Outsider, Has 72.

Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N.Y., June 27.—Finishing the last nine holes with an amazing 31, five under par, Bobby Jones of Atlanta, the tournament favorite, took a commanding lead to-day in the first eighteen holes of the United States open golf championship by scoring a 69, three under par for the rugged Winged Foot course.

It was the first time Jones had ever broken par in the United States open championship, a title which he has won twice.

Al Espinoza, Chicago pro and Ryder Cup star, came in almost unnoticed with a sensational 70, two under par, and only a stroke short of Jones. The dark-haired veteran barely missed sinking a long putt on the home green in a bid to top the Atlanta wizard.

Gene Sarazen, the champion in 1924, came home in another par cracking march to tally 70, two under par and move into second place behind Jones. The swarthy Italian finished the last nine in 34, after going out in 33.

Charles Hilgendorf of Grosse Point Shores, Mich., sprang a big surprise by finishing the first 18 holes in par figures.

George Dawson had a 73.

Back of Dawson were Lighthorse Harry Cooper of Buffalo, Roland MacKenzie of Columbia Country Club, Maryland; Keen Donnelly, Philmont, Penn.; Vincent Eldred, Westview, Pa., and George Crist of Rochester, N.Y., all tied with 73. Willis Macfarlane, former national open titleholder, scored a 79, taking 40 going out and 39 coming home.

FARRER COLLAPSES

The collapse of Johnny Farrell, defending champion, on his outgoing nine, furnished the big sensation. The Quaker Ridge star, in trouble from the start, took a weird 48, exactly ten strokes over par as he virtually put an end to any hopes of repeating his victory of 1928. He finished the round with an 84.

The starting field included 148 professionals and amateurs.

A hundred and fifty-three qualified for the golf classic, but five withdrew.

Two Canadians, Ross Somerville of London, Ont., and James Johnson of Toronto, are competing. Cuba has sent John Wyland.

The representative of Great Britain is Jack White, who won the British open five years ago.

The grizzled and pleasant faced Scott does not expect to win his second major championship twenty-five years after the first. He has come with a two-fold purpose, to chaperon his nephew, Young Jimmy Thompson of Knoxville, Tenn., and watch Bobby Jones' balls from the tee with a driver he made for him at Sunnyside in 1926.

HOCKING WINS WAY TO FINAL

Will Meet Marsh Gordon in Open Singles of Victoria Club Tournament

Yesterday's matinee in the Victoria club tennis championships were not as close as expected but were important due to the positions of the eventual winners. Three of the winners advanced to the final rounds of the various events by their wins.

Ross Hocking defeated Reg Corfield in a semi-final of the men's open singles. Corfield never struck his true stride, while Hocking played his steadiest tennis of the year.

Terry Holmes won from Driespecker in the closest match of the day. The scores of the three sets were 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Miss French advanced to the final round of the ladies' handicap singles, defeating Miss Janet Lang in two sets. She will meet the winner of the Miss Attie McLean and Miss Elmer McLeod match.

Asar and Merston were the pair to advance to the final round of the men's handicap doubles through defeating Hugo Rayments and Dudley Wickett who granted a handicap of two points.

The two other events for club championships will no doubt be watched with interest. Miss Marjorie MacFarlane, who defeated Mary Campbell on Tuesday, plays Mona Miller for the right to enter the finals, and is expected to win. Hope Leeming will play Miss Attie McLean and is expected to come through and play the visiting champion.

GORDON PLAYING WELL

The men's final will also be watched with undue interest. Marsh Gordon, the defending champion, is the only local man who has survived the test of British Columbia tennis for the last ten years. He is playing great game at present and will be at his best to hold his title, and another victory.

Hilda Merston for the final round has been in several of the larger local tournaments in the last two years but has never showed any form in the final round. Playing in the finals of the city championships on the last two occasions Hocking was defeated by both Cunningham and Gordon in rather easy fashion, but is said to have improved this year and has defeated both these players.

Yesterday's results follow:

Hocking defeated Corfield, 6-1, 6-2. Holmes, plus 15, defeated Driespecker, plus 30, 6-4, 6-3.

Miss French, plus 15, defeated Miss Lang, plus 15, 6-3, 6-2.

Asar and Merston, plus 15, defeated Rayments and Wickett, minus 15, 6-4, 6-3.

Largo Winner Of Grand Hurdle Race

Atout, France, June 27.—Largo, four-year-old son of Ecouen, out of Larresse, and owned by the Armenian millionaire, D. Kelenian, captured the grand hurdle race yesterday from a field of 15 horses.

Largo, ridden by the British jockey Hudson Rose, paid his backers four to one, and easily ran away from the older horses.

His owner's second and Lebouef was third.

The race, at three miles, was worth $12,000 to the winner.

who will meet in a fifteen-round bout at the Yankee Stadium to-night. Paolino, the rough and ready Spanish fighter, has been established a 6 to 5 favorite over his German opponent. It is expected the winner will be matched with Jack Sharkey to determine the new holder of the world's heavyweight championship.

London, June 27.—Form players of the feature races on United States turf yesterday received a decided setback as outsiders ran off with first money on each of the four major tracks.

Knocking out eight boundaries and two sixes to score fifty-four runs Eden Quainton led the batsmen in the Wednesday League cricket match which his team, the Five C's, won over the Tillicums by 148-36 more yesterday. Quainton also turned in the best bowling average, taking five wickets for nine runs. His brother Eric was the second best batter with thirty-nine runs to his credit. This was the Tillicums first defeat of a year-old campaign.

Aigencourt, four-year-old filly member of the R. B. and B. O. Hickman string, was two lengths the best of the field in the Owlens Rest Park race at Latonia and paid her well-wishers $25.50 for each $2 investment. Weata from the Closers Stable secured the mile gallop, with third going to S. and A. Fuerst's Uptime. R. S. Clark's Clog Dance, the favorite, finished last.

In the seventh round of a twelve-round bout here last night, Godfrey weighed 239 and Wiggins 194. The referee then awarded the fight to Godfrey.

Tough Paolino to Be Deciding Test For Max Schmeling

Punch-proof Basque Expected to Furnish Experiment As to Whether or Not German Heavyweight Is Future World's Champion; Max Has Yet to Prove Whether or Not He Can Take Punishment; 45,000 Will Attend Fifteen-round Battle to be Staged in Yankee Stadium To-night.

New York, June 27.—A heavyweight man of destiny may rise to-night in the ring at the Yankee Stadium in answer to the call of the fight faithful for another flashing, punching world champion.

A mantle of greatness has hovered over Max Schmeling, young belting beauty from Germany, ever since he caught up with Johnny Risko, lashed out twice with his right hand and shattered the Cleveland rubber man's reputation for durability. To-night a bigger and better trained Schmeling will attempt to do the same thing in fifteen rounds to Paolino Uzecundun.

The squat man from the Basque country, almost as broad as he is tall and hitherto punch-proof as a block of steel, will furnish the final test of Schmeling's ability before a crowd of about 45,000 in the American League ball park. The faithful are expected to pay more than $500,000 to sit in on the experiment, with most of the proceeds donated to the milk fund for needy children.

In his sensational rise to the front ranks of the heavyweight contenders, the German boxer has displayed all the punching power, skill and ferocity that goes to make a champion. His knifing right hand bounced Risko to the floor and kept him there, something that no other heavyweight of the present era had been able to do.

But in his short U.S. campaign, one has been lacking. At night, Herr Max has sold out and hurt. At no time has he been bolted in the body until the skin blotted and then turned purple. Max has yet to stand that test before the critical eyes of the faithful and come back to weather the storm and crush his foe.

Despite a decided difference in height and age, Schmeling, the tall German, and Paolino Uzecundun, the chunky Spaniard, have much in common in the way of physical proportions.

They measure up as follows:

| Jokers | AB. H. P. O. A. E. |

Philadelphia to Entertain Yanks For Three Games

Important Series, as Far as World's Champions Are Concerned, Opens in Philadelphia To-day; Athletics Took Fourth Straight From Boston Yesterday as Yanks Split Two With Washington; Giants Finally Win One From Brooklyn and Gain Ground as Cincinnati Turn Back Pittsburgh Pirates.

The lead of the Philadelphia Athletics seems to grow almost by magic, but National League contenders continue to butt their heads against one another with no particular gain for anybody. While the Pittsburgh Pirates were losing and the New York Giants winning in John Heyder's circuit yesterday, the Mackmen were cleaning up their fourth straight from the defenceless Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees were dividing a pair at Washington.

These antics combined to place the Athletics at a point ten and one-half games in advance of the champions, which is no fit state of affairs if you ask the business managers. The Athletics, in fact, are the American League, but for the happy Athletics it is just another set of ball games. Mr. McGillicuddy will be very well satisfied with two victories in the three days and could even lose the odd game in three and lose no sleep. One hope for the team is that the champions, stout in their even strength at Griffith Stadium, Herb Pennock and his second, will be beaten by the Angels nine hits, one a homer by Walter Berger, left fielder.

True, it may be just a wee bit crucial for the Yankee who must take three straight games to preserve even the slender lead he has over the American League, but for the happy Athletics it is just another set of ball games. Mr. McGillicuddy will be very well satisfied with two victories in the three days and could even lose the odd game in three and lose no sleep. One hope for the team is that the champions, stout in their even strength at Griffith Stadium, Herb Pennock and his second, will be beaten by the Angels nine hits, one a homer by Walter Berger, left fielder.

The Athletics, in fact, are the American League, but for the happy Athletics it is just another set of ball games. Mr. McGillicuddy will be very well satisfied with two victories in the three days and could even lose the odd game in three and lose no sleep. ## WANT BLOOD TO CHECK DISEASE

Call Issued to Those Who Have Suffered From Infantile Paralysis

A call for blood to help check infantile paralysis is made by Provincial medical health authorities, with a request that all who have suffered from the disease within the last twenty-five years get into communication with the Provincial Health Board at the Parliament Buildings.

The board will pay at the rate of $25 a pint.

"Infantile paralysis is the popular name for a disease, the technical name of which is poliomyelitis," says Dr. A. M. Penzance, Vancouver General Hospital.

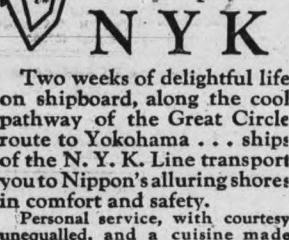

"Not only because of the fairly high deathrate, but also because of the numerous permanent cripples it leaves in its wake, this disease is generally looked upon with abhorrence and dread."

"Poliomyelitis is more prevalent in the summer months, particularly in summer and early fall. It is often very difficult to recognize in the early stages, and yet experience has shown that the best results are obtained in cases which are recognized and treated early. The first symptoms are often much similar to those of an ordinary cold, with sometimes pain and stiffness of the neck, and difficulty in moving the muscles; diarrhea or vomiting may be chief features in some cases. These are usually followed within a few days by paralysis in some part of the body. But at times the initial symptoms may be so mild as to pass unnoticed and the disease may be suspected until the paralysis or palsy appears."

"The most efficient treatment known at present is the early injection of serum made from the blood of someone who has had the disease, and if given early enough, may prevent paralysis. This method of treatment is being used with the hope that anyone who has had an attack of an infectious disease is usually protected from another attack of the same disease for some considerable time, often for life. Apparently this is due to a protective substance being formed within the body against the invading organism. If serum from such a protected individual be injected into one in whom the disease is just beginning, a cure is very often effected."

Deep soup cups, with ears, are excellent for serving cantaloupe or grapefruit, as either just fits in nicely. The pattern of the china proves decorative and the food does not slip around, so is much easier to eat.

NEWS IN BRIEF

There will be a meeting of the Canadian Pensioners' Association at 720 Fisgard Street on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

The regular monthly fellowship meeting of the determined English Bible Class will take the form of a basket picnic at the Gorge Park Monday at 3 p.m. There will be singing and short address.

A concert and dance will be given to-morrow at 8.30 p.m. at the Royal Oak Hall by the young people of Strawberry Vale Institute. All the latest songs and dances will be given. Refreshments and a dance will follow the concert.

The proposed Signs by-law, being prepared for consideration by the City Council, will be discussed by the Real Estate Board of Victoria to-morrow at Spencers' restaurant at 12.30 o'clock. H. S. McCall, city solicitor, will be present on the board and will explain the new by-law.

The British Columbia Court of Appeal yesterday allowed the appeal in Rex vs. Boyd. Malcolm F. Boyd was convicted last May at the Vancouver assizes of taking part in a conspiracy to defraud and was sentenced by Mr. Justice Gregory to twelve months in Oskalla jail. Appellant asked leave to appeal on question of law, alleging he had no right in the administration of his associate, Germyn. Leave to appeal this phase was accorded. Justices Martin and McPhillips dissenting. The appellant also appealed on points of law.

One of the local Chinese organizations held its first annual meeting on Sunday evening last at its hall on Government Street. In the afternoon business was transacted and musical instruments were played by Chinese musicians. At 8.30 o'clock the hall and several visitors were entertained by Professor Jack and Tom Louie and two English magicians with English and Oriental magic. A large crowd attended, and the tricks were well applauded. The performance lasted two hours, after which the entertainers were treated to a Chop Suey dinner.

All arrangements have been completed for the annual Victoria school basketball picnic of Metropolitan United Church at Taylor's Beach, Metchosin, on Monday. This annual event is becoming increasingly popular, and the congregation are uniting with the school and a real good time is anticipated by all. Busses from the Vancouver Island Coach Line Depot will leave the church at 9.30 a.m., returning from the beach at 12.30 p.m.

A splendid programme of sports has been arranged by the young people's class under the direction of Mr. Masters. Booths will be erected for the sale of ice cream, soft drinks, candies and other picnic accessories.

SOLVED MANY PROBLEMS

Despite national opposition, hatred, distrust, fear, and deep-rooted antipathy between nations, the League had existed for nine years, he declared. It had justified itself in solving many problems—in the Balkans, in South America, in Silesia and other areas; and moreover as a move for everlasting peace it had proven a gathering place for those with such ideals.

"We are not an abstract thing. Its war is very much a thing of the present—concrete. It disturbs finance, has a decided reaction upon commerce and industry and upon a nation and its resources. When such a catastrophe as that which occurred in 1914 is averted a nation retains enormous resources to devote to peaceful pursuits," he said.

VINDICATES IDEALS

"In that fact alone the League has vindicated the ideals of its founders," he added.

Canada's role as a link between the two greatest powers of the world had formed an interesting item of the speaker's discussion. As a signatory of the Treaty of Versailles, Canada became a member of the League assembly. A few years ago it became a member of the council.

Canada was unique in its geographical relation—having a border line of between 3,000 and 4,000 miles on which there was not even a single frontier of the peaceful method of arbitration was used to settle disputes with its neighboring nation and both nations were big enough to adopt these decisions whichever way they went, said Mr. Nicholas.

DEFENCELESS FRONTIER

European countries, having frontiers of about 500 miles spent millions of dollars a year for armaments to defend them and used millions of men in their defence. How much then would it cost to protect the Canada-U.S. frontier from a military standpoint? "It would be a waste," he said.

The speaker thus Canada had a role at Geneva as an example of peaceful settlement of problems and difficulties.

But the Dominion had an even greater role, said Mr. Nicholas.

It was this of a binding link between the Wimbledon June 27—Dr. Jack Wright and Willard Crocker, leading members of Canada's Davis Cup team, forced Jean Borotra and C. Boussus, the strong French doubles team, to the longest set of the Wimbledon tournament before they admitted defeat. The score of the tennis marathon was 6-1, 6-1, 17-15. The final set saw the Canadians stage a terrific battle against great odds and their redoubtable opponents were forced to play sparkling tennis before the decision went in their favor.

Judgment was reserved this morning by Judge P. S. Lampman in the appeal by Magistrate Jay on a charge of selling a strong drink on steamers of the Canadian Pacific coastwise fleet. In the police court hearing the accused was sentenced to pay a fine of $20. W. C. Moreby, K.C., and Alex Henderson, K.C., appeared for the appellant, the prosecution being conducted by C. L. Harris.

SANDY BEACH

Questions That Have Been Asked

Q.—Is there a Summer Resort in Canada having the advantages for amusements of both Lakes and Sea?

A.—None of us have heard of such a place.

Q.—If I invest to help hold Tourists longer on Vancouver Island, am I taking a risk of losing my Capital?

A.—Sooke, Qualicum, Comox and others are all offering the Public real service and are a credit to the Island. They are successful. We believe we can be successful also. We have been told that a High Class Inn situated on the Malahat can be kept full during the Summer. We believe the dividend requirements can be met three times from the Earnings from the Inn (only experienced opinion was secured). We then added another safety factor. The Real Estate Agents have joined to sell Lots in the Subdivision (these lots are situated on Sandy Beach which will be served by a Community Boat House). The money from the next 18 lots sold will be placed in the hands of a Trustee to pay the dividends on the preferred stock for three years. This double earning power appears to warrant a substantial investment on the part of the Public.

Q.—Should local issues have the sponsorship of Bond and Real Estate Houses?

A.—Yes. All issues must be local to some Community and receive whole-hearted support. The local issues have stood up very well indeed in this market. The Tourist Trade is our best paying industry. It can grow—Rudyard Kipling said, "To realize Victoria you must take all that the eye admires most in Bournemouth, Torquay, the Isle of Wight, the Happy Valley at Hongkong, the Doon, Sorrento and Camps Bay, add reminiscences of the Thousand Islands, and arrange the whole around the Bay of Naples, with some Himalayas for the background."

Q.—I lend this Company money at 7%?

A.—Your returns are greater than this. It is your project. You can back your City from $100 up. For $100 you receive 10 shares of Sandy Beach 7% Preferred and 100 shares of Malahat Park Ltd.

Q.—What is the value of the 100 shares Malahat Park Ltd.

A.—The Malahat Park Company is entitled to all the profits from the Hotel after paying the 7% on its Preferred and Sinking Funds and reserves for depreciation, and in addition all the profits on the sale of lots in its 110-acre Subdivision

Q.—Who has the controlling vote?

A.—The Investor.

Q.—What is the Security outside of the double earning power?

A.—An Inn, Bridges, Roads, Lakes, Sea Frontage, 860 acres in all as a going concern for $100,000. We believe this property intact is worth a few times this price.

Q.—Is there any promotion Stock?

A.—No. Nine hundred and seventy acres in all, taking nearly 10 years to acquire with Lakes and Waterfrontage has been turned over to the two Companies (with same Directors and Shareholders) for 100,000 $1,00 common shares of Malahat Park Ltd.

Q.—Have you sufficient money to go on with the work?

A.—We have enough money to erect and furnish the Inn, but we want water to be laid on for the lots and improvements to the roads so that we are holding off until we have the whole $100,000 subscribed.

Q.—If I subscribe and the proposed Inn is not built what happens?

A.—No money is turned over until the full amount required is subscribed. If you pay for the stock now and if not sufficient money is secured your money will be returned with 7% interest.

Why name your wife executrix?

Your wife is capable of managing the household, but is it fair to impose on her the task of proving your Will, defending it if contested, in addition to the bookkeeping, filing succession duty and income tax returns, collection of income and the general administration of your estate?

Far better to make her co-executor and leave the heavy responsibilities of an executor and trustee to The Canada Trust Company.

Call and discuss this favorable arrangement with our officers.

WHITNEY LETTER

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

New York, June 27.—Whitney of Wall Street Financial Service says to-day:

NEW MARKET RECORD

"Just a month ago to-day the market was at the bottom of the May reaction and the Street was flooded with predictions concerning the extent of the decline which was going to be witnessed in what was then distinctly labelled a bear market. The answer to all who hold to such views has been rather clearly supplied by the market, as both the industrial averages and the rail averages are now above what was paid for them at the start of the month. Furthermore, the advance is expected to-day. There will, of course, be no change in the rediscount rate and there will quite as certainly be another large increase in the total of brokers' loans. If the loan total is much larger than expected undoubtedly a reaction will be witnessed Friday, as it will simply provide another opportunity to buy stocks which are going on to new high records of more than that next year, the stock is still on the bargain counter."

105, expect a new record on Continental Banking "A" to-day and do not buy without American Can even if you have to pay a few cents."

"International Projector Corporation, which is headed for new high prices, will be the nucleus of new combination in its field which with patents controlled will revolutionize motion picture projections.

"Eisels Electric is for the moment a value buy, but it will be better than 86 a share this year and probably certain of more than that next year, the stock is still on the bargain counter."

Mandamus suit has been filed in Supreme Court of Wilmington, Del., against Standard Gas and Electric Co. by Messrs. C. F. and K. Wilson and Kate Wilson, all of New York, who state they own 152,000 shares of stock. Petitioners seek a mandamus to compel company to let them examine books and record of company to determine whether company is being managed for best interest of stockholders and to obtain full knowledge of relations between the company and H. B. Byblyea & Co.

Loadings of revenue freight for the week end d June 15 totaled 1,069,080 cars, the car service division of American Railway Association announced.

This was an increase of 14,297 cars above the preceding week this year. Compared with the corresponding week of last year, loadings of revenue freight for the week was an increase of 66,276 cars and an increase of 52,612 cars above corresponding week in 1928.

"Bethlehem Steel is recommended for purchase particularly within the range of 108-1 for an advance to between 135-40. I expect six months earnings statement to show that Bethlehem Steel earned about an even 7¢ a share on its new capitalization.

"A new high record for your Public Service of New Jersey and you get substantially better than the $120 which you have been advised to hold it for as I understand United Corporation is about to offer two shares of its stock for one public service. If you own it hold it for year don't sell.

"Bethlehem Steel is recommended for purchase particularly within the range of 108-1 for an advance to between 135-40. I expect six months earnings statement to show that Bethlehem Steel earned about an even 7¢ a share on its new capitalization.

"American, which is just about the soundest issue in the entire U.S. equipment group, has started to make up for lost time. I believe the accumulation which has been in effect since January has been completed, and as the stock is still 5¢ a share below its January high record, recommend that it be bought particularly while it remains below 80.

"In addition to Public Service of New Jersey in the utility group, continue to buy Consolidated Gas around 125 and particularly American and Foreign Power while it remains below 110, and Pacific Gas & Electric while it remains below 70, expecting new record prices for all these issues.

"I understand that the financial institution which offered its clientele B. & O. at 110 as an investment will shortly make a similar offer, and for a similar reason, of Anaconda at 120.

"In the food products group continue the purchase of Fleischmann below 85, Corn Products refining below

102, and Proctor & Gamble below 100.

Then minutes of nine. Evans, the clerk, and young Blake, the lawyer on salary, had not arrived, of course, but for once she was not contemptuous. They did not love the place as she did. Why should they? Morgan was only an employer to them, a source of income but also of hard work. Suddenly Nan envied those two absent men with all her heart. They could stay on and on, see him every day, serve him, share humbly in his triumphs, while she who loved him—

"I won't cry!" she told herself fiercely, as she slit envelopes and extracted their contents—bills, court notices, crackling legal documents, letters, advertising circulars. "I've simply got to remember that I'm damned lucky to have had two years with him before I realized I was making a fool of myself. And that I'm still more lucky that he's the kind of man he is, instead of a rotter who would be tickled to death to return to his secretary behind his wife's back."

"I must say I have good taste in love," she congratulated herself with the bitter rumor that had been born in her heart the night before. "Even if I told him I was in love with him I could stay right on here until I was old and gray and he'd never take the slightest consideration of me. I know he couldn't love him so much if I wasn't sure of that... 'Oh-h-h-h! What's the world—?"

Jerked out of self-pity and into temporary forgetfulness, Nan started incredulously at the single-sheet letter she had just drawn from a plain cheap envelope. Her eyes, which had glanced mechanically over the letter, now turned back to the beginning of the message:

"J. C. Morgan, Esq., 'It began oddly, in small, neatly printed letters, calculated to baffle a hand-writing expert. "If you value your peace of mind you'd better lay off certain witnesses you subpoenaed last night in the Grace Cox case. Stick to Grace's friend and let her go alone, or you may stir up a nest of hornets that will sting you for your pains!"

The bald truth was signed ironically, "A Friend," but the real significance of the message lay in the postscript: "P. S.—Do you know where and with whom your wife was on the night of September 11? There are ways of getting this highly interesting information into the court record—if it necessary."

* * *

Nan's first emotion when she had read the blackmailing letter was fury against its writer. How did anyone dare to try so confidently to influence John Curtis Morgan to "throw" a trial? Didn't the fool writer have sense enough to know that Morgan would use this letter as an additional weapon in his fight for Grace Cox's vindication? Imagine trying to blackmail John Curtis Morgan, the most fearless, the most upright man in the world! It was easy to picture his righteous wrath.

But in picturing John Curtis Morgan as he would look when he read the vile tilip, Nan saw him reading that postscript, that nasty insinuation which was even now crawling about in her own mind, never-to-be-forgotten. Of course Morgan would snap his fingers at the insinuation, attributing it contemptuously to a villain who had no other effort to frighten him. But he would have read it, and he would not forget it. The words would rankle deep in his mind. It would hurt him more than he would ever admit that an anonymous writer had dared sully his wife's name.

No! No! She picked up the letter, folded it with the tips of her fingers at the corners, and laid it flat; then thrust it hastily into her handbag. She should not see it, she vowed, her mouth and eyes grim. For two years she had served him in big and little ways, sparing him every possible unpleasantness. Just because she now knew she loved him, why should she stop serving him?

But a sudden thought made her hand tremble. What if her husband was still truly serving him in keeping his anonymous threat from reaching him? What if there was an ugly truth behind the sinister threat in that postscript? September 11—September 11—Nan knit her brows, then swiftly turned back the loose leaves of her daily calendar.

Yes! On September 11 Morgan had been in New York—Chicago! She remembered now, remembered how surprised she had been that Iris Morgan had not accompanied her husband as she invariably did when he went to the larger city on business. Morgan had been surprised, too—and hurt. Nan had heard him pleading with her over the telephone, offering gifts, dinner parties...

For her—closed icily about Nan's heart. What if the writer meant this warning in all seriousness? Did she have any right to withhold it from him, let him go unwarmed to the courthouse that morning? But—and she felt dizzy with conflicting feelings—she must tell him, as she was duty-bound to do, he would soon profit by the warning, might in fact, precipitate a terrible crisis by introducing the anonymous threat into the evidence.

And even if he believed or feared that the writer had "something on" his wife—he certainly would not believe—he would proceed with the Grace Cox case exactly as he had planned. She knew well enough to be sure of that. So—why let him see the contemptible thing? Spare him, shield him—

"Even if it was true I wouldn't want him to know it, not even if it meant—"

Sea Captain Interested Hearn in the Far East

Lafcadio Hearn, a little boy with a strange name, was visiting, with his nurse, at the seaside. He had been born in Greece and his parents were Irish and Greek. He was being brought up by his great-aunt, a wealthy old lady who lived in Ireland.

He had a nurse who looked after him, and, in the summertime, took him on vacations, when his aunt did not wish to go. This time they were going to live in the house of an old sea captain, who had retired from the sea and now ran a sort of boarding house at the seaside.

Uncle Wiggily's Sugar Kindness

Copyright, 1929, by McClure News-paper Syndicate)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, he saw some Boy Scouts marching along. They were fine little chaps, with red and yellow handkerchiefs around their necks. Uncle Wiggily hid behind a sassafras bush and watched.

The rabbit gentleman wasn't afraid the Boy Scouts would chase him, for he knew they didn't do things like that. But Mr. Longears liked to watch the marching lads.

As two of the Boy Scouts passed him, not knowing the rabbit was hiding behind the bush and watching them, one boy, who had red hair, asked another boy, who had blond hair:

"Did you do your good turn to-day?"

"Oh, yes," was the answer. "I helped an old lady cross the street so she wouldn't get hit by an auto."

"And I gave a glass of water to another old lady," said the red haired Boy Scout.

"Well, that's nice," thought Uncle Wiggily. "I had heard that Boy Scouts must do one good turn, or kind deed, every day, and I am glad to find out what that means! It gives me an idea. I'm going to pretend I'm a Rabbit Scout and I'm going to see if I can't do a kindness."

A queer look came over his face.

Waiting until the Boy Scouts had hiked off to the deeper woods where they were going to build a camp fire and cook a meal, Uncle Wiggily hopped along the path until he came to the busy part of his own little city; a place, not far from his hollow stump bungalow where many animals were rushing to and fro, some walking, some hopping and some riding on the backs of mud turtles who, I am allowed to tell you, are the taxicabs of the animal city.

"Here is where I can do a kindness and have it count as a good turn for me," thought Uncle Wiggily. He looked at the Woodland Street, up and down which many of his animal friends were hurrying and hurrying. Mr. Longears saw a poor old Cat lady who seemed afraid to cross the path.

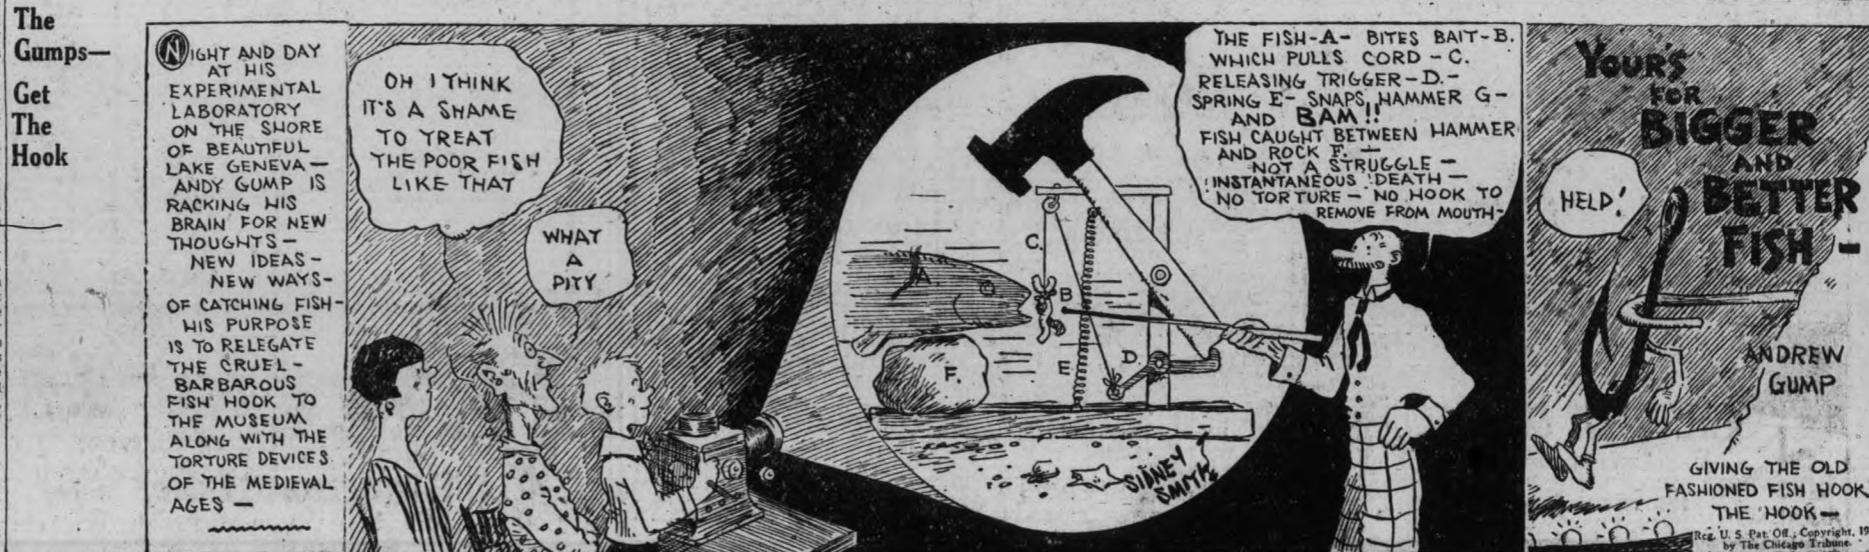

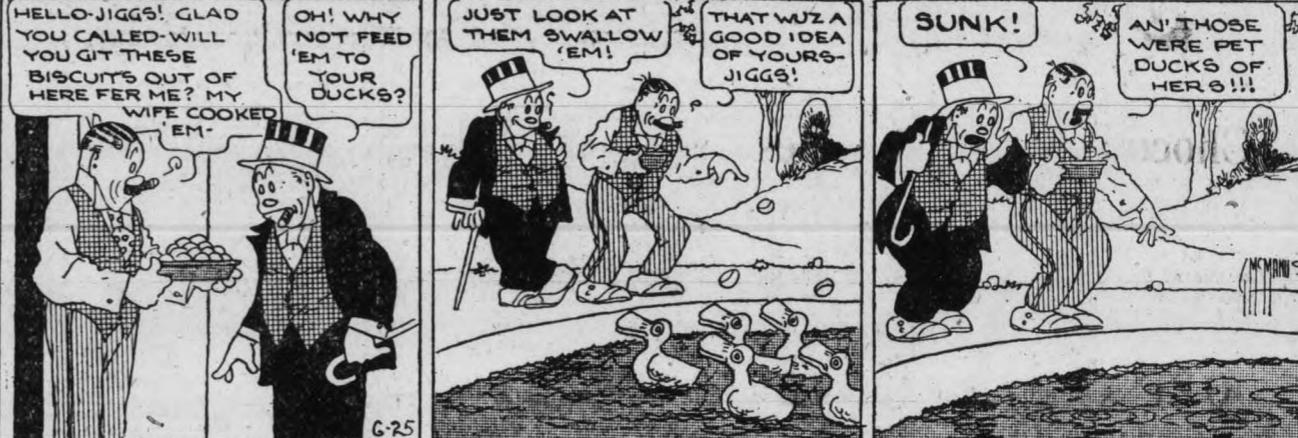

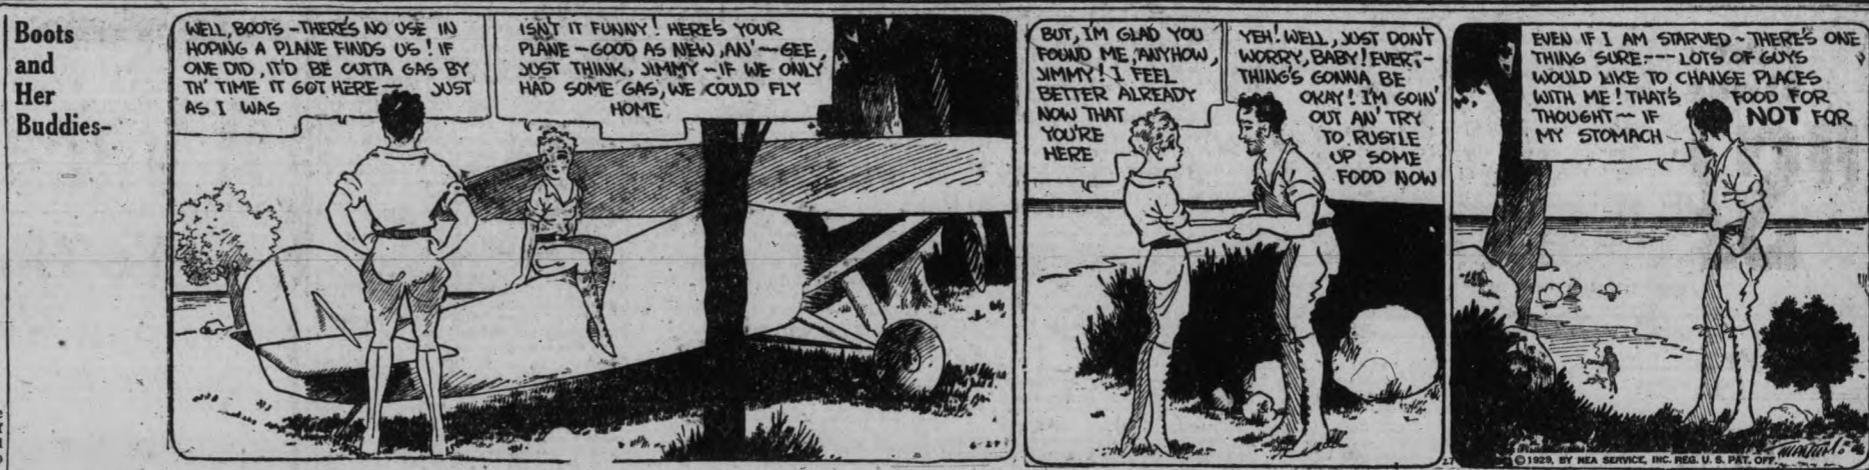

"I'll help you across," kindly offered Uncle Wiggily. "Take hold of my paw." Which the Cat lady did and it was a good thing, too, for just then along came a mud turtle taxicab and if Uncle Wiggily had not steered Mrs. Cat out of the way she might have been stepped on!

But the mud turtle taxicab stopped in time, for it wasn't in a hurry, and Uncle Wiggily and Mrs. Cat crossed safely.

"Thank you!" she mewed.

"Pray don't mention it," spoke Uncle Wiggily politely. "It is just a small kindness."

The rabbit gentleman looked around for some other kind deed to do and he saw a little Ant lady trying to drag a grain of sugar, which she had found, home to her nest beneath an old stump. The Ant lady was very

AT THE THEATRES

FANNIE BRICE'S STORY, "MY MAN," CAPITOL FILM

Fannie Brice's first talking picture, her first picture of any kind, for that matter—is Warner Bros. Vitaphone Special, "My Man"—now being seen and heard at the Capitol Theatre.

Vitaphone gives flawless reproductions of the songs which have put Fannie Brice on the right side of "My Man," which is the heart-story of three orphans of New York, is shot through with delicious melody—and made almost deliriously amusing by Fannie's well-known clownings.

Fannie Brice is green, not alone as the result of her never having studied artistry—but by the fact that into her voice she puts herself. The poignant tenderness of "My Man," which has dimmed many an eye, is caught magnificently. And Fannie sings the others—"If You Want the Rainbow," "If You Must Have the Rain," "Floradora Baby," "Second Hand Rose" and "Id Rather Be Blue Thinking of You, Than Happy With Somebody Else." And she gives the uproarious recitation, "Mrs. Collier."

The cast includes Guinn Williams, Edna Murphy, Andre de Segura, Richard Tucker, Billy Seay, Arthur Hoyt, Ann Brody and Clarissa Selwynne. Archie L. Mayo directed.

X. Bushman, now starring with Jacqueline Logan in "Charge of the Gaucho," at the Columbia Theatre, I doubt whether they are really as tough as the Gauchos, sons of the pampas, who stand up the cattle in the Argentine.

"These sons of the saddle know absolutely nothing of fear. They plunge down sheer mountain sides on their horses as if they were taking a level plain. During one of the charges on horseback, X. Bushman was hurled from his horse at breakneck speed, his horse tripping in a moment, lost his balance, and leaped back into the saddle as if he had never left it like a shell from a canon's mouth. And that's what I call being tough."

ROMANTIC STORY OF IMPERIAL RUSSIA IS TOLD AT PLAYHOUSE

A love story of Imperial Russia is told in "The Scarlet Dove," in which Lowell Sherman, Margaret Livingston, Robert Frazer and Josephine Borlino play the leading roles. This Tiffanyland production is showing at the Playhouse. The story depicts the romance of an innocent young girl who is betrothed by her aunt to a man of the world and a waster.

The story, which was written by its director, Arthur Gregor, provides a gripping drama and a tender romance. SINGING WAITER IN NIGHT CLUB FINDS ROMANCE

At Jolson's picture, "The Jazz Singer," broke all records for attendance and enthusiastic comment. "The Singing Fool," a heart story of universal appeal which has to do with the joys and sufferings of a singing waiter of a Broadway cabaret, he again finds favor with the public.

Jolson covers new emotional ground.

pours out his heart in the exaggerated, jazzy, conquering way, that makes his personality altogether irresistible.

"The Singing Fool" of the story becomes infatuated with a beautiful but heartless entertainer at the club in New York. He is beaten. Through his help she succeeds. They part and she desert him, calling him back only when their little son is at the point of death.

"The Singing Fool" is showing at the Dominion Theatre this week.

GRIPPING TALE OF CANADIAN WILDS TOLD ON STAGE

In an entertaining stage presentation entitled "Naomi of the North," the Coliseum Players, under the direction of Raymond "Toby" Letch, appear all this week at the Colliseum Theatre.

The play has a gripping plot. The settings are laid in the picturesque woods of northern Quebec and Ontario. The interior of a log cabin was specially painted for the play and the stage was set to look like a winter scene. The skins add a northern atmosphere to the walls and floor, and a cherry fireplace gives an air of comfort, usually associated with a northern cabin in the heart of the woods, and snowed in all winter.

"Beware of Blondes" is the title of the screen attraction. It is a fine picture, full of action, and other pictures as well as having a good plot. A splendid cast appears in this picture, and in connection with it the Colliseum orchestra renders special selections.
